IN NORWICH FIFTY YEARS AGO

Fifty years ago this week the court of common council appropriated about $17,000 for property taken to widen Washington street at its lower end and to widen Main street at the junction. The same week these deeds, No. 11, I. O. O. F., celebrated the 51st anniversary of the institution of Odd Fellowship in the United States with a banquet held in their lodge room.

As a whole, the week was a quiet one in Norwich. Interesting extracts taken from the files of The Bulletin of April, 1872, are as follows:

Monday, April 22, 1872.—At the Preston town meeting Saturday it was voted to petition the state legislature to divide the town into two districts. The matter of straightening Main street, near the Preston bridge, was deferred until Saturday next.

At present two-thirds of the population of Poquonock pass Sunday fishing for muskrats with shotguns. This is the way the other third know when Sunday comes.

The second track of the Providence and Stonington road is being rapidly laid and is expected to be completed between Providence and Woburn by the first of June. The roadbed and bridges are ready the entire distance.

We are glad to learn that Sheriff Raymond has decided to appoint as one of his deputies J. B. Fillmore, the present popular and efficient deputy in this city.

Tuesday, April 23, 1872.—Edward A. Steery has been a member of the choir of the First Congregational church at Norwich since 1852. He completes his half century next winter.

In the case of William Standish vs. the Narragansett Steamship company a verdict has been returned for the plaintiff for $9. Standish lost his ticket on the boat and was forced to pay a second fare, which he did under protest, and the company refused to refund the money.

The common council at its meeting last evening appropriated about $15,000 for property taken to widen Washington street at its lower end and to widen Main street at the junction. The necessity for this improvement has long been evident, and we have no doubt that it can be made at the present time more cheaply than in the future.

Wednesday, April 24, 1872.—A Franklin farmer while plowing Tuesday discovered a number of potato bugs at the bottom of the furrow. They were apparently frozen stiff, but on being exposed to the sun they revived and immediately inquired the way to the nearest potato patch.

The schooner Mary Anna of Philadelphia, Steamer master, with 150 tons of coal to E. Chapman & Co. grounded at low water some time Tuesday night while lying at Chapman's wharf. Tuesday she lay in the line of water, with her decks awash. Application was made to the chief engineer for one of the steamers with which to pump her out today at low tide.

Officer Meach of the police, who has been confined to his bed for some time, is improving, and hopes soon to be able to exercise his little William on some one's back.

Thursday, April 25, 1872.—Tomorrow is the 52d anniversary of the institution of Odd Fellowship in the United States. Unusual lodge collections will be held at a banquet at the lodge rooms.

A very handsomely framed and designed collection of pictures of the members of the Plackstone Hose company and their carriage is on exhibition in Gravelly's window on Shattuck street.

Rev. A. H. Wilcox of Preston, received a farewell visit from his parishioners Tuesday afternoon, who presented the stamptous tables in the parsonage, and on their departure in the evening left a comforting roll of greenbacks behind.

Friday, April 26, 1872.—Rev. J. D. Fullerton lectures in the Broadway church this evening on "fashionable dissipation" and the wine drinking habits of society. The exercises will be introduced by the rendering of a selection from The Messiah by a combined choir.

J. M. Huntington & Co. have sold the property of Hunter and Widwaine of the Keystone line of freight steamers which have run between Providence and Philadelphia the past six years. They were bought by the Boston and Philadelphia
